V. (7:40 PM) Chair's Report

- Comments on this meeting

- (Ning Xiang) High platforms high and dangerous.
- (Ralph Muehleisen) Embarrassed by loudspeaker systems. Not what we expect.
- Sine wave's from session next door were distracting.
- Poor ventilation.
- (Dave Woolworth) Thanks to all who volunteered and played and organized and attended the ASA Music Social. Thanks most especially to principal organizer Pam Harght! The Music Social is now supported by the College of Fellows, needing no Technical Initiatives.

VI. (7:55 PM) ASA Committee Reports

1. Medals and Awards (Dana Houglund)

- Send suggestions and nominations to Dana Houglund, due six to seven weeks prior to the meeting.
- Rossing/Rayleigh for education nominations are due in March.

2. Membership (Ron Freiheit)

- Congrats again to the 3 new TCAA Fellows
- Please consider your colleagues here who might be worthy of Fellowship. Anyone can nominate, plus two letters of support (at least two of these three must be a fellow).

3. Standards (George Winzer)

- Bob Hellwig reporting:

Don't forget, every member gets 5 free ASA standards per calendar year. If you've lost the code, email the Citation Help Desk (request with your name and ASA Membership Number) and they'll email you your keys to the kingdom.

Classroom S12.60 has been reaffirmed: R2009

S12.60 Part 2 Modular Classrooms is approved and should go to press within a couple of months. These will be available at no cost thanks to generous sponsors: Armstrong, Trane, and Owens Corning.

S12.60 Working Group 52 is addressing incoming comments for the standard, and it is fast-tracked for conversion into code compliant form (consistent with International Building Code).

S12.60 Part 3, Portable Equipment: expect draft soon.

4. Student Council (Norman Philip)

- Introduction of our newly appointed TCAA rep.
- PACS numbers: Some concern that PACS is an obsolete concept because of the keyword orientation of current search methodologies.

- Student Council is concerned that the potential May 2012 meeting in Hong Kong will be prohibitively expensive.
- New student signal processing competition is being developed by students in TC Signal Processing.
- Applications for Mentoring Award due in March for the Cancun Meeting.
- asastudents twitter is live.
- Interested in Special Session for TCs to expose new members to benefits of ASA membership and activities.

5. Committee on Meetings

- Voted unanimously to go to Hong Kong in 2012. Bob Coffeen did raise concerns about attendance from students and professionals.
- Brandon Tinianov reports that the invitation from Hong Kong to host points out that:
 - No visa is needed.
 - Proximate to Japan, China and other active acoustics societies.
 - Plane fare is expensive, but food and housing is quite affordable.

6. JASA and JASA-EL Editor (Ning Xiang, Lily Wang)

- About 40 manuscripts have come in over the last year.
- 17 accepted
- 11 rejected
- 12 still pending
- Papers mostly are coming from Europe and Rest of World, not United States.
- Lily Wang: Applications-oriented papers have a place in JASA. See Lily's presentation from Portland Session on applications papers. Preparing a submission to JASA on applied projects in architectural acoustics <<http://scitation.aip.org/confst/ASA/pub/10/4aID4.pdf>>
- Brandon Tinianov: AA is one of the largest, most active TCs in the Society, yet one of the least published in JASA.
- Ning Xiang: JASA-EL: 5 proposed, 1 accepted, 4 rejected.
- Ang Campanella: It would be a good idea for someone (Session Chairs?) to solicit JASA publication from promising papers and encourage publication of graduate theses in JASA, JASA-EL, POMA, etc.

7. POMA editor (Ralph T. Muehleisen)

- POMA is the Proceedings of Meetings on Acoustics.

- Every paper Ralph has seen so far at this conference is appropriate for POMA.
- Take your presentation and add prose with computer graphics. It may be made more complete (white paper) if you like. Only caveat: avoid commercialism. You may not just plug your product.
- Also, please proof carefully.
- Deadline: 1 year from presentation date to submit.
- Chairs of all sessions at ASA meetings should encourage their presenters to publish in POMA. Include it in your advance communications with presenters, remind them at the session itself, and then include a POMA reminder in any follow-up/thank you communications.
- Still not in Google Scholar, but we are working on it.
- POMA publications can still be published later in JASA (or elsewhere).

8. Women In Acoustics: (Lauren Ronsse)

- All are welcome to join us at luncheon tomorrow.
- For Baltimore, please apply for the young investigator travel grant (ditto for child care).
- Note the Special Session at Baltimore: Listen up and get involved - Acoustic demonstrations for middle- and high-school age Girl Scouts

Camera-ready document needs to be created and proofed by Books+ as it will be an ASA Publication.
 - b. David Lubman believes the full TI will be exhausted.

VIII. (8:45 PM) New Business

- New ASA Website – check it out, help us keep it current and accurate
 - <http://tcaa.acosoc.org/>
 - TCAA has launched a new website. It is now live! It is the source for all things TCAA.
 - Thanks to Connor Sheehan for developing this!
- Research Direction: Alan Pierce (JASA Editor in Chief) requests some guidance from experts in the field to
 - 1) encourage new researchers to select well-vetted topics
 - 2) improve the quality and impact (references within a 2-year period) of our current journal.

Scott Pfeiffer, Ken Roy have volunteered to help here.

- Alan Pierce is looking for PACS volunteer(s) for Technical Committee topics – one or more contact names. Volunteers will review existing PACS, update and restate them for maximal relevance today.

Ning Xiang, Ralph Muehleisen, Ang Campanella

- TCs are again being encouraged to explore the concept of TC specific Special issues. The special issue would include a guest editor from the TC to set the tone of the issue. Issue is to be aimed at the TC's core readership.
- Position about to be announced for an Acoustical Society of America Educational Outreach Coordinator, working with the Optical Society of America.
 - Ralph Muehleisen suggests that we view this resource as support in TCAA's frequent efforts to educate architects and others.
- Website underway (also with Optical Society of America) to encourage and teach a middle school level audience. They are also generating posters for the same audience.
- TC Scope description still needs development. Volunteers identified at our last meeting in Portland: Ning Xiang, Tony Hoover, Jodi Jacobs.

 - Charles Schmid: there is immense acoustics activity there. It is time to interact. 30% of our ASA members are outside North America. 50% of our authors are outside North America.
 - Ken Roy: recent experience with green buildings and acoustics is strong there. We should link, where possible, sessions to green building.
 - Nancy Timmerman: as a sole proprietor, this is a substantial investment to go to another international meeting. Paris, Cancun, Hong Kong.
 - Jiry Tichy: Strongly supports going to Hong Kong, as there are great things happening there. To travel a few extra hours will lead to great benefits.
